

2016 UALE SUMMER SCHOOLS FOR UNION AND LABOR WOMEN

<https://UALE.org/womens-schools>

- Multigenerational learning and mentorship
- Learning from and building solidarity across unions, industries, regions and movements
- Panels, speakers and participants from alternative labor organizations
- Emphasis on organizing, diversity, international solidarity, language justice and young workers

For decades, United Association for Labor Education (UALE) Summer Schools have provided leadership, skill-building, networking and educational programs to train and empower women to take on leadership roles in labor organizations.

Summer Schools provide a unique, rigorous and immersive experience, one suited to the best innovations of the current labor movement. The themes, topics, workshops and panels speak to the urgency for gender equality in leadership, solidarity and movement-building creativity

Midwest School for Women Workers July 24–28

Indiana University, New Albany
www.midwestwomenworkers.org

Northeast Summer School for Women in Unions and Worker Organizations

July 30–Aug. 3

Rutgers University, New Brunswick, New Jersey
dlschulman@work.rutgers.edu

Southern School for Union Women July 27–30

Florida International University, Miami
Labor@fiu.edu
305-348-2371

Summer Institute on Union Women Breaking Down Barriers and Borders

Western Summer Institute on Union Women

Aug. 9–13 at University of California, Los Angeles

Contact: arizocentino@ucla.edu
labor.ucla.edu/get-involved/siuw/

Registration fees (Registration link available in April)

Singles: $750
Doubles: $550
Commuters: $450

Registration fee subsidies available for students, young workers, and women in CBOs/ worker centers.

Summer Institute on Union Women \(SIUW\)

@2016WesternSIUW