

SAVE THE DATE

Midwest School for Women Workers

JULY 23-27
UNIVERSITY OF IOWA

The Midwest School for Women Workers brings working women together to develop leadership skills, understand the challenges and issues facing working women today, and learn from one another.

Held annually since 1976, the school equips women to be more active and effective workplace, union, and community leaders and to build solidarity among women workers.